

THE WEST WEEKLY

November 7, 2025

Student Spotlight: Sherwood Tops County Leaderboard

A huge congratulations to varsity field hockey standout Emma Sherwood! Emma finished her incredible season tied for first place in all of Suffolk County with an amazing 25 goals. Way to represent Smithtown West!

Student Spotlight: Zins Tied for Suffolk County Assist Lead

Congratulations to Smithtown West's own Frankie Zins! The sophomore field hockey midfielder has been a powerhouse of teamwork this season. Zins is currently tied for the Suffolk County lead with an impressive 18 assists, consistently setting up her teammates for success on the field. Way to go, Frankie!

HSW Student Nicholas Cardi Collaborates with NASA

Have you seen the unique structure near the athletic fields? It's a radio telescope built by High School West sophomore Nicholas Cardi! Nicholas is collaborating with NASA on a program called Radio JOVE, which allows students and amateur scientists to build their own radio telescopes. With guidance from his teacher, Mr. Snyder, Nicholas constructed the telescope to observe natural radio emissions from Jupiter, the Sun, and our galaxy. The data he collects will be shared online, contributing to real scientific studies in radio astronomy. What a cool project!

Science Olympiad Fundraiser a Smashing Success

Thank you to everyone who participated in last week's Pie Your Teacher fundraiser! It was a fun and messy event, all for a great cause. We want to give a huge shout-out to the brave teachers who volunteered and the students who donated. All proceeds will directly support our Smithtown Science Olympiad team as they prepare for their competitions.

Six in a Row! Smithtown Girls Swimming and Diving Dominate League 1 Again

