DID YOU KNOW?

Scouts learn real-life skills like first aid, cooking, knots, navigation, fire safety and outdoor skills.

Scouts get outside! Hiking, camping, fishing, canoeing and exploring are all part of the adventure.

Scouting builds leadership. Scouts learn to communicate, work together and take responsibility.

Service is a big part of Scouting. Scouts participate in projects that help their schools, communities and neighbors.

There isn't just one way to be a Scout. Activities can include STEM, sports, nature, crafts, conservation, outdoor adventure and more.

Scouting has been around for more than 100 years in the United States.

Scouts have reached some pretty incredible heights! More than a dozen astronauts have been Scouts, including people who walked on the moon.
